

You have just found a sick or injured bird, what to do?

By following exactly the four steps below, you will maximise the chances of recovery for the bird that you have just found.

1. Put the bird in a perforated box with many holes and place it in a quiet and dark room which has a mild temperature
2. Call immediately our center. A specialist is available and will inform you of the steps to follow
3. Avoid any manipulation, as this would cause a stress aggravating the bird's state
4. Do not give any drink, food or medication
